ABSTRACT

We have chosen to conduct our research based on the dataset which contains current job postings available on the City of New York's official jobs site. Internal postings available to city employees and external postings available to the general public are included. This dataset will help us in summarizing our observations from the data that we have analysed.

What are the positions that available for applying in the current world in all sectors of the market? Who is eligible to apply for it? Are there any pre-requirements? All these questions lead to the grand one, is this opportunity golden for one?

We chose this topic as we have understood from the recent times that there is a rapid rise in the intake of youth in the economy. People are recruited for all kinds of jobs ranging from basic layman work like a janitor in a school to the highest position one can get in a corporation or a company that is well-established. Though majority of the general public are only high school graduates but with their hustle, they fly and soar with success, but it is not always so.

Those who do not get through the basic education provided, we wonder where they make it in their life which can be predicted through this dataset we managed to get our hands on. Information provided in this dataset may not be entirely up-to-date to keep up with the recent trends but it will help us in mapping out the possibilities of what could happen in the future.

The research methodology that we wish and plan to use are those that help the us and the public to understand the current question at hand better but we hope that limitations of any kind may not hinder us with help of references that we make to the internet and other papers.
